Texas Workers Pack Pistols In Labor Fuss

Steel Plant Is Scene Of Series of Bomb Blasts, Gun Shots

DAINGERFIELD, Tex. (AP)—Non-strikers carried arms to and from the Lone Star Steel Co. plant near here today after an explosion shook a nearby area Wednesday night. The blast was the latest incident in a series of outbreaks of violence.

The 40-day-old strike has left the area jittery and a small army of peace officers is keeping a tenuous peace.

"I'm toting a pistol," said James Landers, 24, a 127-pound machine operator savagely beaten Wednesday by six burly men he identified as strikers.

"We never had a gun checked before this started," said L. D. Webster of Dallas, vice president of Lone Star Steel, as he admired an ancient cap and ball pistol bearing five notches. The 14-inch weapon was checked at the gate by a plant worker.

Gatehouse guards displayed an arsenal they were keeping for workers who carried them in their cars.

TEXAS LAW is a bit ambiguous about carrying weapons and officers here have not argued the matter.

Officers fanned out around Lone Star Lake, just west of the huge steel plant, but couldn't pinpoint the blast site. Most reports indicated the blast occurred somewhere in that vicinity.

Daingerfield is a small town about 160 miles east of Dallas. In the last week, there have been four bombings, four incidents in which rifles or shotguns were fired into homes and uncounted threats against non-strikers.

Ed Ball of Houston, staff representative for the United Steelworkers Union, insisted the violence was the work of individuals.

Englishman Jibes Englishman In Fuss over Yank Tourist

NEW YORK (AP)—A transatlantic tiff over American tourists today had Englishmen pitted against Englishmen.

There wasn't a Yank in sight to blame.

A battle of words started when Cassandra, a columnist for the London Mirror, sharply criticized the advertising campaign designed by the British Travel Assn. to lure U. S. visitors to Britain.

The ads, appear in nine nationally circulated magazines. Particularly rousing Cassandra's wrath was an advertisement describing the shopping glories to be uncovered in England's antique stores, woolen shops and auctions.

"What a wretched picture this is of Britain!" rumbled Cassandra. "The supplicatory bazaar."

Ex-Sen. Welker, 50, Dies after Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herman Welker, an Idaho Republican who served one six-year term in the U. S. Senate, died Wednesday night at the age of 50.

Welker, who was defeated for reelection last year by Democrat Frank Church, died at the National Institute of Health following a second brain operation.

An earlier operation was performed at the clinical center Oct. 17 to relieve pressure on the brain and to explore the possibility of a brain tumor. A second operation on Monday presumably was to remove a tumor.

We've About Reached Limit On Human Life Expectancy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Human beings have about reached the limit on how long they can expect to live.

This conclusion was reported today by Dr. Morris Rockstein, associate professor of physiology at New York University, to the opening session of the 10th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

To back up his conclusion he cited studies of animals and mortality data which shows that—like the color of their eyes, hair and skin—human beings inherit most of the conditions which decide how long they'll live.

Since man has no control over these inherited conditions, he said, human beings are arbitrarily limited to about the present length of life.

"What a blatant piece of bribery to catch the Yanks! How the cynical admen (probably writing from the steam-heated Sparta of Madison avenue) have taken over!" Back came reply.

"We're not steam-heated vulgarian yahoos," remonstrated David Ogilvy. "A number of fairly thoughtful people work out the advertising."

Ogilvy heads the advertising agency of Ogilvy, Benson & Mather.

"The results are the best reply to criticism," added James T. Turbayne, English-born general manager of the New York office of the BTA, an official government bureau.

A BTA spokesman said that an English writer prepares nearly all the texts—and final approval is given in London by Jack Mauser, advertising manager and Englishman.

When the advertising campaign began in 1950, the travel office reports, there were 127,827 U. S. visitors to England who spent $73,780,000; in 1956 the number of travelers rose to 255,000. The current year's figures are estimated at 270,000 wide-eyed wanderers spending $140,000,000.

Asian Flu Death Rate On Increase

Government Says U. S. Fatalities Up 28 Per Cent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deaths from influenza and pneumonia increased by 28 per cent last week in the United States, as compared with the week before.

Reporting this today in its weekly summary of the Asian influenza situation, the U. S. Public Health Service said there were 1,187 more deaths from those diseases in 108 cities than there were last year.

There have been 6,438 more deaths from all causes in 114 cities in the same period.

In Ohio, the total of deaths officially attributed to Asian flu reached at least 23 today. Two more were reported in Cleveland, bringing the total for that area to seven.

A federal health service spokesman said the number of excess deaths is a direct indication of the impact of Asian flu.

He also expressed the opinion there have now been more than six million flu cases in this country since early June.

THE SUMMARY said the estimated death rate from flu and pneumonia in 108 cities for the week ended Oct. 26 was more than 2½ times that for the same week last year.

Simultaneously with release of the summary, two federal agencies announced intention to take prompt action if manufacturers make false or misleading claims that their drug products are effective in preventing or treating Asian flu.

The Health Service says inoculation with vaccine is the only reliable means of preventing flu.

The Federal Trade Commission, which enforces the federal law against false advertising, and the Food and Drug Administration, which has authority to proceed against ineffective products and false labeling, issued separate statements.

The FTC spokesman said: "There is no doubt that the commission will proceed against any person or corporation who attempts to associate his product with a disease it cannot prevent, alleviate, nor cure."

The FDA statement pointed out the Health Service's viewpoint on use of vaccine and said: "Some drug preparations may relieve some of the discomforts of influenza, and these have a proper place in treating the patient. But aside from the vaccine, there are no drugs available to prevent this disease."

WESTERN diplomats expressed the view that Russian-Syrian warnings that the United States and Turkey are about to "touch off a war are so phoney that to appoint an inquiry commission would give them dignity."

Syria, on the other hand, was reported to have told Hammarskjöld she would not prove his appointment as mediator on grounds it would mean the Assembly was shirking its duty in favor of the secretary general.

India Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon has suggested that both Syria and Turkey agree on a fact-finding process to help settle their differences and use Hammarskjöld's good offices.

Syria has insisted she will press for a vote on her resolution and will accept no substitute plan. However, it was felt she might agree to some face-saving plan such as Menon's.

In Damascus, acting Foreign Minister Hkaili Kallas told the Syrian Parliament's Foreign Affairs Committee he hoped the crisis was fading.

Service Rivalry Probe Predicted

DAYTON (AP)—The next session of Congress will give serious consideration to rivalry between the Army, Navy and Air Force in America's missile development program, says U. S. Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.).

Carlson told a press conference here Wednesday that interservice rivalry "has held back the United States in the field of missiles."

He recommended a single coordinated missile program headed by civilians and "all three branches of the military."

"I don't see how we could take the missile program away from the military," he said.

Sputnik II Said Scheduled For Launching on Nov. 7

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia reportedly plans to blast a larger earth satellite into orbit Nov. 7, the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

The Communist Daily Worker in London said in a Moscow dispatch that "conditions may make it impossible to launch it on that particular day, but the plan is there."

The United States, meanwhile, conducted another missile test at Cape Canaveral, Fla., late Wednesday night. The device was described as a Jupiter A, believed to be an improved version of the Redstone missile which has a range of 200 miles.

New predictions have been made that Sputnik's carrier rocket may plunge to the earth soon, and that Sputnik itself will follow in a few weeks, perhaps by the end of the year.

The sphere and its rocket section have been streaking around the earth at about 18,000 miles an hour since Oct. 4.

Radio Moscow said Wednesday night that Sputnik's rocket section will come crashing to earth soon, but that the sphere probably will last several more weeks.

At Cambridge, Mass., Dr. Fred L. Whipple of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reached about the same conclusions. He said there is some chance the rocket's spectacular plunge might be visible in the United States but didn't say where.

A high ranking Air Force officer, Lt. Gen. Donald L. Putt, said the Air Force was surprised Russia had not put up a bigger satellite.

His remarks were made to Aviation Daily apparently before the Moscow report that a heavier Sputnik would be launched.

"The facts are," he told the trade publication, "we don't understand why they don't put a bigger one up there because they have bigger engines."

Putt is Air Force deputy chief of staff for research.

U.N. May Seek New Plan in Mideast Crisis

Syrian, Western Resolutions Seen Destined for Doom

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A move grew in the United Nations today to seek some compromise approach to dissipate the tension between Turkey and Syria. Rival resolutions already submitted to the Assembly appear doomed.

Statements by Russian and Syrian spokesmen abroad meanwhile indicated that the crisis over Russian military aid to Syria and Turkish troop reinforcements along the Turkish-Syrian border was simmering down.

The United States and Turkey have contended all along that Russia hipped up the tension to win the Arabs to the Soviet side.

Many U. N. delegates believe the only plan likely to get Assembly approval would be a watered-down proposal citing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld as a possible go-between and promising some kind of investigation.

An Assembly session scheduled for today was postponed until Friday morning.

It seemed unlikely that the 82-nation Assembly would give the needed two-thirds majority to Syria's proposal to send a fact-finding commission to investigate the border situation, or to the seven-nation Western resolution expressing confidence that Hammarskjöld would mediate the dispute.

WESTERN diplomats expressed the view that Russian-Syrian warnings that the United States and Turkey are about to "touch off a war are so phoney that to appoint an inquiry commission would give them dignity."

Syria, on the other hand, was reported to have told Hammarskjöld she would not prove his appointment as mediator on grounds it would mean the Assembly was shirking its duty in favor of the secretary general.

India Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon has suggested that both Syria and Turkey agree on a fact-finding process to help settle their differences and use Hammarskjöld's good offices.

Ike May Be Risking Political Black Eye with Endorsement

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower may be risking a political black eye in his enthusiastic endorsement of Republican Malcolm Forbes in the New Jersey governorship race.

On the other hand, Eisenhower's plug for Forbes in a contest some Republicans regard as a long-shot gamble may be of more significance to the GOP in the 1958 battle for control of Congress than what happens at the polls in New Jersey.

Forbes is running against Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner. If Forbes wins next Tuesday, it would provide, as Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday, "a great big shot in the arm" for Republicans.

If Forbes loses, Eisenhower will have put himself into a situation many will regard as confirmation of reports his own political popularity is slipping noticeably.

At his news conference, Eisenhower was asked only about the Forbes-Meyner race. But press secretary James C. Hagerty said later the President hopes for a victory by Republican Ted Dalton over Democrat J. Lindsay Almond for governor of Virginia.

POLITICIANS read the President's action as indicating he intends to make a stiff fight for the kind of candidates he likes, even if he has to take some political bumps in the process.

These politicians are contrasting this new attitude to the considerably more cautious course Eisenhower followed in 1956, when his own reelection was at stake.

In the case of Forbes, Eisenhower wiped out any chance the Republicans could alibi defeat by contending that local and not national issues decided the contest.

Eisenhower described Forbes as "the young, vigorous type of candidate we should have in politics."

If Forbes wins with Eisenhower's help, the recalcitrants among the Republicans will be under some constraint to pay more attention to keeping the President enthusiastic about them in 1958.

If Forbes loses, the tendency will be to discount the influence within his own party of a second term President barred by constitutional amendment from running again.

New Air-to-Surface Missile Now Operational with U. S.

PINECASTLE AIR BASE, Fla. (AP)—The new air-to-surface guided missile, Rascal, went into operation officially with the Air Force today.

A B47 jet bomber landed here with one of the 32-foot-long, four-foot diameter missiles slung beneath its wings.

The arrival marked formal delivery to the Strategic Air Command (SAC) of the new weapon, the first air-to-ground missile assigned to a combat wing.

This was the first public showing of the Bell Aircraft Co's Rascal in position, ready for launching. The Air Force said previous displays merely have shown the Rascal at rest on a stand.

The delivery also marked the end of the research and development testing phase for the weapon. B47 crews stationed here already have started training in the handling of the Rascal, although it has not yet been announced which wing and base will be the first to get this equipment.

THE AIR FORCE announced earlier this week that the Rascal, capable of carrying an atomic or hydrogen warhead, had scored direct hits in four firing tests within the last five weeks.

The missile was fired long range (the exact distance a secret but it was described as miles) from a B47 over a New Mexico test range at a ground target with a radius of only 1,500 feet.

The Rascal was put into operation in connection with the opening of the week-long annual SAC bombing, navigation and reconnaissance competition.

Pilots of the two Royal Air Force planes, an Avro Vulcan and a Vickers Valiant, won the first two places in the bomb line in a drawing for starting positions.

As a result, the Vulcan, commanded by Wing Commander Alan D. Frank, 40, roared off this central Florida air base at 10:44 p.m. Wednesday and headed for Dallas, Tex., navigation turning point for the three simulated bombing targets, Kansas City and St. Louis and Atlanta.

The Vulcan, a four-engine medium jet bomber greatly resembling the U. S. Air Force B58 Hustler took off in a surprisingly short distance and climbed steeply, its nose high.

Altogether, 33 B47s representing a like number of SAC wings, including the two at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio made the five to six hour flight from this base in the opening of the week-long competition.

Wayne Twp., Washington Near Deadline

Signers Asking Connection to Circleville System

Two petitions requesting transfer of county school territory are expected to be filed in the office of the superintendent of county schools before a 5 p. m. deadline today.

The petitions which have been in circulation in Wayne and Washington Townships, will ask the county board of education to make a transfer of certain territory in each of the townships to the Circleville School District.

County superintendent George McDowell said he was informed by William Crist of Washington Twp. that a petition from that area would be filed sometime today.

Crist's petition requests that a four-sided area contiguous to Circleville Twp. be transferred from the newly created Logan Elm School District. The area which includes Knollwood Village, is bounded by the township line on the west, Pontius Rd. on the north, Bolender-Pontius Rd. on the east, and U. S. Route 22 on the south.

The exact territory requested for transfer by the Wayne petition is not known.

THE PETITIONS, to make a valid transfer request, must have signatures of at least 75 per cent of the qualified electors residing in the area to be transferred. Under present state law, today is the last day for filing such petitions.

The Washington petition follows action of the county board of education last August consolidating the local districts of Washington, Pickaway and Salter Creek Townships into the Logan Elm School District.

Many residents in Washington Twp. registered strong protests at the time due to what they term a disregard of the township's desire to consolidate with Circleville Schools.

Circulation of the Wayne petition has resulted from anticipation that the county board plans to consolidate the entire township district with those of New Holland, Deer Creek, Perry and Jackson Townships to form a "southwest" school district.

Such action by the county board actually took place earlier this month, but was later rescinded because of a possible technical illegality in procedure. The county board is expected to repeat its consolidation action at its next regular meeting, November 6.

The first petition for transfer of county territory was filed recently by a group of New Holland residents. The New Holland petition, with 450 signatures, asks that the entire New Holland school district be transferred from the Pickaway County School District to the Fayette County District. The county board has taken no action as yet on this petition.

Under current state law, all Pickaway County transfer petitions must be presented to the Pickaway county board. The county board may grant or refuse the transfer. If the board refuses to make the transfer, the matter may be appealed to the state board of education for final decision.

Army Accuses Sergeant, 40, Of Espionage

WASHINGTON — The Army has filed espionage charges against M. Sgt. Roy Adair Rhodes, who testified as a government witness at the recent trial of Russian spy Rudolf Abel.

The 40-year-old soldier testified he didn't know Abel and never worked for him.

But Rhodes also said in court he received between $2,500 and $3,000 from the Russians for information he supplied them while assigned to the U. S. Embassy in Moscow. He was there from May 1951 to July 1953.

An Army announcement Wednesday said Rhodes had been charged in court-martial proceedings a conspiracy to violate the espionage laws, and one specification alleging he signed an official document without disclosing his prior association with Red agents. Rhodes, from Eatonton, N. J., now is being held at Ft. Belvoir, Va. Conviction could carry a maximum of life imprisonment.

Abel will be sentenced Nov. 15. The sergeant was brought into the case after testimony indicated Abel had a file on Rhodes under the code name "Quebec."

3rd Man Held In Murder of Akron Grocer

AKRON — A third man was charged with first degree murder today in the slaying of a grocer here Monday night.

He is John Miller, 26, who was arrested here Tuesday.

Previously charged with murder in the killing of Russell Lee Foutty, 46, was Miller's brother, Richard, 29, and Jack Foutty, 30, nephew of the slain man. Young Foutty is still at large.

The grocer was shot down in the driveway of his home as he resisted a holdup attempt. Police said that before he died Foutty shot and critically wounded one of his assailants, but the others escaped in an automobile. The day's receipts from his grocery, $1,574, were found in the grocer's pockets.

Richard Miller is in Akron General Hospital paralyzed from the waist down as the result of a bullet in his spine. Police said he named Jack Foutty as the finger man in the slaying.

Police said Miller told them he was preparing to hit the grocer on the head with a softball bat, purchased for use in the holdup, when the shooting started.

Bruce W. Hoover, 20, of Akron, is held on a suspicion charge as a member of the robbery gang, but police said he apparently was not connected with the slaying.

Mayor Race Tops City Ballot; County Loaded with Openings

The Ben H. Gordon-Robert Hedges race for mayor headlines the city political picture for Tuesday's general election.

Another "hot" race is expected between Robert Huffer and Kenneth M. Robbins for city solicitor.

In addition, there are four candidates for three councilman-at-large posts. They are Joseph F. Bell, the only Republican, incumbents Dudley J. Carpenter and Harold Clifton, and newcomer David Crawford.

Running without opposition are Richard W. Penn, for president of Council, plus ward councilmen Charles W. Kirkpatrick, 1st Ward; William Wyatt, 2nd Ward; Merle M. Huffer, 3rd Ward, and Boyd Horn, 4th Ward.

City voters also will be asked to approve three state constitutional amendments, vote for a Municipal Court judge, a constable and two Circleville Twp. trustees, plus two members of the Circleville Board of Education, and a one-mill tax levy for current operating expenses.

IN THE COUNTY there are 13 races for township trustee posts, 15 for Board of Education jobs, including the county board, and eight village official jobs up for grabs.

'Cultured' Gunman Robs Blood Bank Of Four Pints

SPOKANE, Wash. — A "cultured" gunman, who was careful not to point his weapon at a lady attendant, Wednesday night robbed the community blood bank of four pints of blood.

"I won't hurt you my dear," the robber told Billievelyn Miller when he entered the Spokane blood bank. "Just don't be frightened. Do what I tell you."

She said the man, who appeared "very calm and sweet," held a small pistol in his hand when he approached the counter where she was typing blood.

The robber gathered up his strange loot and walked calmly from the building.

Insurance Agent Gets $2000 To Help Defeat Union Drive

WASHINGTON — The investigative spotlight of the special Senate Rackets Committee has been focused on a Flint, Mich., insurance agent.

John (Jack) Carreras, a Flint agent for the Allstate Insurance Co., received $2,000 in 1954 for his work in helping to defeat a union organizing drive, according to testimony before the committee Wednesday.

The committee questioned the propriety of both the payment and the manner in which it was made.

The examination of the Michigan union fight was another phase of the committee's current look at Nathan Shefferman's Labor Relations Associates of Chicago. Shefferman has been described by committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as a specialist in union busting.

Henry Moser of Evanston, Ill., senior vice president of All-State, testified that Shefferman's organization was used to fight an unsuccessful attempt of the AFL International Union of Insurance Agents in 1955 to organize Michigan's Allstate agents.

Fred Wheeler of Glen Ellyn, Ill., the Shefferman man sent to Michigan, testified that he asked Jack Johnson, manager of the Detroit All-State office, for the name of an employee opposed to the union. Carreras was named, and he was selected to read the "Vote No" Anti-Union Committee.

The union lost the bargaining election, 54-39.

Moser said the $2,000 was paid Labor Relations Associates, to reimburse Carreras for the time lost Carreras by the company, through in the anti-union activity.

"What it amounts to is you paid $2,000 for him to work against organized labor," Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) told Moser.

"I don't think that's a perfectly fair characterization," replied Moser.

But after McClellan repeated his characterization two more times, Moser said:

"I think that's perfectly true, Senator."

Top Level Conference

Russia has intensified her cold war against the West, outstripped the United States in the missile field, and raised a new threat of a nuclear war in which the Soviet Union will be able to draw on her growing stockpile of hydrogen bombs.

It is against this background that Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain has come to Washington. These Russian threats are forcing the United States and Britain, somewhat estranged since the Suez fiasco last fall, to get together again.

The most urgent problem being discussed may not be the Syrian crisis but Russia's scientific gains. Mr. Macmillan and his cabinet seem convinced that the two English-speaking allies must have a joint missile and nuclear program, with the best technical brains of both countries working together.

The U. S. beat Russia to the atom bomb by some years—and the lag would have been greater if Soviet spies hadn't made off with some of this country's secrets. Why—in addition to the activities of spies—has the U. S. been falling behind, relatively? There is probably no one-shot answer.

But it is no secret what caused the final curtailment of Anglo-American cooperation: the fear that secrets revealed to British scientists might again be stolen for Russia. And now, circling overhead every hour and a half, is a grim reminder that the nation is less secure than it was.

Gang Killing: Unlawful Justice

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Here in the city that nearly every day can greet a dawn with a homicide, there came a sudden death that gave the millions pause.

It was not a routine death in a city where many strange ways of death are routine.

This was a gangster death, the going away with five bullets in his body of the kind of a man who dies with big money in his pocket but who when alive, while often arrested is rarely convicted.

It is an example of the shiv-very "law beyond the law," the tale of a man who many people think deserves to be killed but he is killed not by the people, but by his people.

His death may be justice but it is not law. Police officials announced 100 detectives have been assigned to search for the killers, but very few of the 8½ million people who live here think the 100 badgewearers will ever bring the two killers to successful trial. Nor do they worry much.

For some reason that amazes more civilized nations, many Americans and some of the law officers they hire feel that justice is done when one underworld character exterminates another, a legal and moral attitude is indefensible as it is indigenous.

When I read in the papers that Albert Anastasia had been slain in the same New York hotel out of which Arnold Rothstein, the escaped the thought that these gangsters, like the German forces I had met in war, were military creatures of a military mind and sometimes were guilty of confronting a new situation with an habit rather than an improvisation.

As an observer of death on many fronts, however, some artistic and some inartistic, I must say the two-man execution of Anastasia marks a postwar low mark in the art of public assassination.

The two gunmen must have been nervous; that is bad. First, as their victim is sitting in a barber chair, they start talking to the barber. Then they fired 10 shots at close range and were lucky that one of the five hit, according to the papers.

This percentage of target inaccuracy illustrates the danger of conversation during business hours. In wartime I have met able, disciplined soldiers who would hang their heads at this kind of performance.

But they must have had a well organized plan for they had flanking protectors and blockers outside the shop to take care of the outside possible interrupters. And I rather doubt that the men who shot Anastasia ran for a subway.

It would be so much simpler to stroll to an elevator and go upstairs and eat quietly in a room registered by another man, and enjoy television in peace. Let the second stringers drop—decoy the guns.

I realize this theory requires the employment of at least five men to kill one. But it is hard to figure how they could have used fewer and been sure of coping with the traffic problem.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A PURSE-PROUD patroness of the arts asked a dealer, "Do these artists whose pictures cost so much learn to paint when they grow up, or do they inherit their talent?"

"My dear lady," the dealer replied patiently, "this hereditary business is nonsense. Truthfully, did you ever hear of the mothers and fathers of Picasso and Rouault?"

"No, I didn't," admitted the patroness, "and to tell you the truth, I never heard of Picasso and Rouault, either."

The late Emile Henri Gauvreau, live wire editor in his day of some flamboyant papers and mags, stoically summed up his career in this sententious sentence: "I was part of that strange race of people, aptly described as spending their lives doing things they detest to make money they don't want to buy things they don't need to impress people they dislike."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—No one mentioned Sputnik by name but the shadow of the Russian satellite across President Eisenhower's news conference Wednesday was just as real as if it had been revolving around his head.

The questions and answers reflected the shock of Sputnik to both the American people and the Eisenhower administration—a shock into an acute realization of Russian progress in missiles, science and scientific brains.

Nothing showed better the kind of silly paradise in which this country has been living than Eisenhower's own words in explaining his desire to promote American-British cooperation in nuclear development.

Under laws now on the books—these laws have been years—this country can't share its nuclear secrets with its allies although cooperation with them might have put the allies ahead of Russia.

These laws apparently were meant to prevent the secrets from falling into Russian hands. The Russians have been doing all right by themselves. Eisenhower pointed out:

"Most of our security laws . . . were written at a time when we thought we had a monopoly. Now we are getting to the point where we know that a great many of our secrets are known to the enemy, but they are still secret from our friends, which seems rather an anomalous situation."

As a result of Sputnik, Eisenhower will go to Paris in December for an Allied summit meeting to talk more cooperation on defense among the Allies. The British spurred him into that idea.

Traffic Signals Pffft; Motorists Confused

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Motorists and pedestrians didn't know whether they were coming or going when 46 traffic signals went haywire here Tuesday.

The signals flashed crazily for more than 15 minutes shortly after the noon hour, giving motorists stops and goes almost simultaneously.

It happened when a mason, helping to remodel the office of the traffic control director, moved a switch to make work easier.

They had a real shock from Sputnik. Since the Russians were able to build a missile to shoot Sputnik into outer space, they should be able to build missiles that could be showered on Britain from Moscow.

Just how long the shock of Sputnik will affect the American people will depend in large part on what kind of leadership Eisenhower shows in keeping the public aware of the need for scientific development, especially in missiles and outer space progress.

This was brought home to him by one questioner who quoted an interview with Dr. Vannevar Bush. The World War II scientific director said he isn't optimistic about our overtaking the Russians in the outer space field unless the public is alerted, and that the alerting is the President's job.

Eisenhower in effect said he was aware of that but indicated it's a pretty complicated problem.

Report on Medical Advances

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Two new drugs for treating rheumatoid arthritis and gout, a steroid for relieving itching and burning eyes, and a method of improving eyesight by use of electric current are the medical advances I'd like to discuss today in our monthly review of what's new in medicine.

The arthritis drugs are chloroquine and colchicine.

Chloroquine is reported to be good for long-term and safe control of certain cases of crippling rheumatoid arthritis.

While it gives no immediate evidence of any anti-inflammatory effect on joint swelling and pain, it appears to inactivate the disease process in the body as a whole.

Colchicine is a modern, streamlined version of the 3,457-year-old drug, colchicine.

Both drugs are extracted from a particular variety of European and Asiatic crocus that blooms in the autumn.

Colchicine is reported to be highly effective in suppressing painful and distressing arthritic symptoms that accompany acute gouty attacks.

The new eye preparation is Metretion Ophthalmic Suspension, a ground that they are pro-American or anti-Arab.

steroid-antihistamine, which can be used for a wide variety of resistant allergic eye conditions.

It is reported to be especially helpful when the eyes are bothered with reactions from hay fever or asthma. Investigators say it gives prompt relief from itching, tearing and burning.

Application of mild electric current to the temples is said by two Maryland doctors to have improved vision greatly in 10 persons with varying degrees of visual loss.

In the cases studied the impaired vision apparently was due to vascular problems. The investigators reported the patients improved with the treatment "probably because of improved nutrition to the visual apparatus as a consequence of improved circulation."

It is nice for the public to know about the new advances in medicine, but it is also equally important to understand that medicines should always be taken under the advice of the doctor.

Execution Ordered For Slayer of Baby

CLEVELAND (AP)—A guilty verdict against James Vaughns, 31, who was convicted last April for murder and rape of a 17-month-old baby, has been upheld by the court of appeals, which set his electrocution for Feb. 17.

The verdict was returned by Common Pleas Judges Arthur H. Day, John J. Mahon and William J. McDermott, who presided at Vaughns' trial.

Sylvester Buchanan found his daughter, Diane, on an old mattress in an abandoned brewery near his home last Nov. 17. The court found that the baby had been raped there by Vaughns.

Next 8 Weeks To Tell Future For Retailers

Christmas, New Car
Buying Seen Good
Index for '58 Volume

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—How the retail stores fared in the next eight weeks will go a long way in forecasting what kind of a year 1958 will be for industry.

Consumer buying in November and December should have more than usual weight this year on the future course of prices, industrial output, factory jobs — perhaps even on interest rates.

How the public spends for Christmas and how it reacts to the new cars is the big question mark of the day.

Retail sales have been just barely ahead of last year for some time now. Take in account the higher prices, and unit sales may be a little off. But in the next two months most stores expect to do one fourth of the whole year's business. This makes or breaks their year as far as earnings go.

If they move the goods they have on hand or on order, they'll be in a position to reorder. If the public goes slow on buying, or buys less expensive goods than last Christmas, or admires the new car models but holds onto the old family auto, the economy all the way back to the prime producer of materials will feel the jolt. And even the Washington money managers may decide it's time to ease up on money and credit—and therefore on interest rates.

On the sunny side is the fact that total personal income is high and that total employment is high. Also the banks will be handing out a record 1 1/4 billion dollars in Christmas club payments, 37 million dollars more than last year.

On the darker side is that many families show a tendency to spend less. One reason may be that many families already were living to the limit of their income, either in cash spending or installment buying. When prices went up and borrowing charges went up, when overtime pay faded and some factory work weeks were shortened, these families just weren't in the position to spend for anything but the necessities.

Dealers in the more expensive items, whether it be fur coats or convertibles, are also nervous today about the stock market. When a man makes a killing on the market he may buy his wife a mink or upgrade the family car. When stock prices fall, even if loss is only on paper, he may decide that this Christmas more modest presents may do.

For several years the public has tended to buy better and more costly items all along the line from the butcher shop to the auto showroom. This has helped to give industry its ever healthier glow. The big question today is whether the consumer will start retrenching.

Ohio Newspaper Tells Answer in Soviet Quiz

CLEVELAND (AP)—Radio Moscow said Wednesday night it disqualified Ohio entrants in a quiz contest because the answers had been published in the Cleveland Press. An English language broadcast monitored by radio station WERE said the newspaper's action gave Ohioans an unfair advantage. The Russians said it got 1,270 mail entries, and awarded 10 prizes of radios, cameras and records. Winners were from various parts of the U. S. and Canada.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives surveying the special bargains offered by supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this week will find they have a choice of beef or pork.

Top and bottom round steak, sirloin and porterhouse steaks and rib roast are being featured in some stores. Others are stressing pork loins, pork roast, fresh ham and smoked ham.

Turkeys, still at bargain levels, are the No. 1 attraction in some stores, while others offer lamb leg or the increasingly popular lamb combination of chops and stew meat.

Shrimp prices are shrinking now that autumn catches in Louisiana waters are surpassing last year's haul.

Vegetable counters offer a good variety of outstanding buys, in those areas where they're available from nearby fields, with such items as cabbage, onions, potatoes, cauliflower, bunched beets and carrots.

Western pascal celery remains a good buy, while other good buys include Western topped carrots (packed in cellophane bags), cucumbers, Idaho and Washington russet potatoes and yellow and green squash from Florida.

Just about any variety of fall apple you like is an outstanding buy this week, with supplies flooding the markets. Just in time, too, for housewives to hand out for Halloween.

29 Areas in Ohio Due To See Fuel Gas Rates Boosted

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Wednesday announced a rate increase in 29 Ohio communities having contracts containing fuel cost clauses.

The increase will be one cent for each 1,000 cubic feet in some communities and one-half cent in others. The company said the retail increase results from higher prices charged by suppliers.

The one-cent increase will apply to Toledo, Maumee, Ottawa Hills, Rossford, Walbridge, Mansfield, Willard, Gahanna, Whitehall, Worthington, Grandview Heights, Upper Arlington, Hanford, Wellston, Alliance, Lisbon, Columbiana, Leetonia, Canfield and Salineville. The half-cent increase will apply to nine other communities:

Scene from the drama Unto These Hills. The soldiers in helmets and breastplates are explorer DeSoto's men.

Actors Using Great Smokies For Actual Theater Backdrop

By DICK BELLEW
Written for Central Press
North Carolina's fabulous mountaintop theater, with its annual presentation of Kermit Hunter's "Unto These Hills," recreates an almost forgotten page of American history against the magnificent backdrop of Eastern America's last primeval wilderness.

The tragic, triumphant, gay and moving story of the Cherokee Indians is spun out in two acts and 14 scenes in a natural amphitheater of the Great Smoky Mountains. Here, the past rubs elbows with the present and the rituals of a thousand years still persist, for this is the heart of the Indian nation that refused to die.

The authentic, centuries-spanning drama of the Cherokee is really the story of Tsali, a simple nobody who made history by the merest accident. This tale of Tsali is the story of the proud and once powerful Cherokee.

The story, as re-enacted by the famed Playmakers of the University of North Carolina, and including a cast of more than 100 descendants of these Cherokee, looms in this country's heritage as a fine lesson. In a world unable to reconcile differences between races and nations, it takes on greater meaning.

Ohioan's Complaint Brings 2 Arrests

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—A complaint by Mrs. Ethel Ruth of Youngstown, Ohio, resulted in the arrests Wednesday of Sherman K. Levine, Lawrence County district attorney from 1949-53, and Helen McCandless of Rt. 5, New Castle, on forgery charges.

Otterbein Classes Shut

COLUMBUS (AP)—Classes at Otterbein College in nearby Westerville have been suspended until Tuesday because of increasing influenza-like illness.

of awe at the great natural beauty of the setting. Lighting, natural acoustics, primitive music, and the fragrant mountain air create a spell-binding atmosphere into which a page of history is recalled.

IT HAD ITS beginning with the coming of the Spanish explorer DeSoto in 1540. It had its climax in the removal of all but a remnant of the Cherokee to strange lands in the West in 1839—and in the death of Tsali, who gave his life so that a handful of his people might forever live in the land of their birth.

More than a million persons have watched the drama unfold in this superb setting, and now, finishing its eighth season, it is firmly established as one of America's foremost plays of history.

New Dutch City Rebuilt From World War II Rubble

By OMER ANDERSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

ROTTERDAM, Holland — On a flawless May day in 1940, Hermann Goering's Nazi bomber fleets wheeled low over Rotterdam and systematically destroyed the Dutch seaport.

In a preview of Coventry and the London blitz, Goering's bombers pulverized Rotterdam in history's — until then — most awesome job of aerial destruction.

Virtually undefended, Rotterdam was a fat, sitting duck for the Luftwaffe.

Goering's bombers flattened 24,879 housing units, 2,393 shops, 1,483 offices, 1,212 factories and workshops, 675 warehouses, 26 hotels, 21 churches and 12 movie theaters.

Today—17 years later — Rotterdam is a completely rebuilt, ultra-modern city. Few bombing scars remain. The Dutch have matched Goering's history-making air assault with perhaps history's greatest single reconstruction undertaking.

With almost nothing remaining except rubble, the Dutch have rebuilt Rotterdam from the ground up as a postwar European architectural showcase.

LONDON, Berlin and other World War II bomb-blasted cities have repaired the damage. However, Rotterdam, with nothing left to patch up, built itself a new city. Everything about this new Rotterdam has been planned in stages. By 1960 most of the reconstruction will have been completed.

Rotterdam's port was given priority in reconstruction planning. A new embankment has been laid out all along the old waterfront. This replaces the old sea dike running across the center of the city, on the new embankment will be constructed a magnificent boulevard.

The shopping center or Lijnbaan is typical of the new Rotterdam. Some four-score merchants, whose businesses were destroyed during the war, pooled their resources to erect it.

Work was begun in 1952. Now the center has 75 shops built around a promenade. Showcases are in the center of the promenade, and each shop is different than the other.

There are restaurants, sidewalk cafes, cinemas — but no bicycles (Holland's favorite mode of transportation) nor automobiles.

ADJACENT TO Rotterdam's shopping center is what the Dutch advertise as the world's most fabulous department store. The 15-floor structure, which took two years to build, has no windows between its ground-floor display windows and those in its penthouse restaurant.

This windowless wonder—called the "Beehive" — boasts that it "sells everything on earth." If the store doesn't stock the item, it will order it for you—from any spot on earth.

Within recent months the "Beehive" has filled orders for yak butter tea from Tiber, bommarangs from Australia and a totem pole from Alaska.

Rotterdam's new main street, with harbor in background.

The fabulous Rotterdam department store has a new type artificial lighting called "perpetual daylight," lighting which in fact is a close scientific approximation to moderate sunshine.

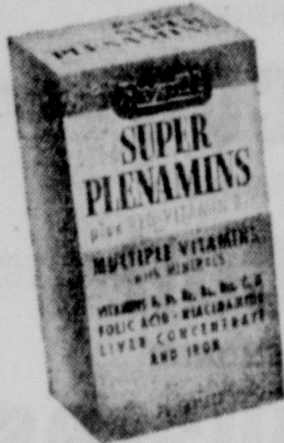

Rotterdam's new wholesalers' building is the Dutch equivalent of Chicago's merchandise mart. The largest business structure in Europe, this new trade structure is occupied by 260 wholesale firms with a total of 6,000 employees.

Perhaps the most revolutionary aspect of Rotterdam's reconstruction is the city's newly-acquired skyscraper mania. Many new structures reach up to 15 floors.

In Holland, where prewar buildings never exceeded eight floors, this is a sensational architectural development, the more so since Rotterdam literally is built on sand and at the mercy of the sea.

The original Eliza in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was said to have found temporary refuge in the Rankin Home at Ripley, Ohio—a station on the Underground Railroad. Today the home serves as a museum.

Lausche Plans Neutral Role In Next Democratic Primary

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) said today he will support the Democratic candidates for Ohio governor and senator next year but intends to remain neutral until they are nominated.

The former governor, whose backing has so often been sought by Ohio Democratic candidates in the past, said he is getting reports that he already favors certain candidates.

On this point, he told a reporter: "The impression of some aspiring candidates that I have tied myself to one or another candidate is completely erroneous."

"The probabilities are very, very great that I will not at all participate in the primary contests. The choice of the Democratic candidates will have to be made on the basis of their individual merits."

"Whoever the nominees are they will receive my support, for whatever it is worth."

Just what candidates are getting

Double-Check Planned On Cincy Illnesses

CINCINNATI — A personal physician's certificate is not going to be enough in the future for city employees here who are absent from work four or more times a year.

City Manager C. A. Harrell said another physician will be called for corroborative purposes.

The action followed a report by Don Heisel, city personnel officer, that a drop from an average of seven days' absence to five days would save $200,000 annually.

The monetary unit in Liberia is the U. S. dollar.

the idea Lausche is quietly backing particular individuals for the seats now held by Gov. O'Neill and Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) is something he declined to spell out for the record.

However, it is known he has heard reports some people think he is siding with Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner or ex-Sen. Thomas Burke—solely because he had lunch or breakfast with them recently.

Additionally, it is understood that a third potential candidate, Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo, has implied that Lausche is taking sides.

Of those three men, only Sensenbrenner has formally announced his candidacy for the governorship. However both Burke and DiSalle are also regarded as

Hitler Race Plan

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — Adolf Hitler planned nationwide husband-sharing to repopulate Germany after World War II, says Dr. Oron J. Hale, University of Virginia professor, who tells of it in an article for the Journal of Central European Affairs.

Dr. Hale, who served as U. S. Commissioner for Bavaria after the war, translated the only full copy known of a talk Hitler made to an intimate circle of assistants in 1944.

Hitler believed the success of his plan would depend upon finding acceptable terms and names for relationships of men with war widows and spinsters, and the resulting children.

Dr. Hale says the plan was to be kept secret until after the war because of possible adverse effect on the morale of soldiers.

possible candidates for either the governorship or the senate.

Other Democrats believed interested in running include Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, Clingan Jackson of the Youngstown Vindicator, and former Liquor Director Oscar Fleckner.

The word here is that most of the Democrats are more interested in running for governor than senator, on the theory that O'Neill would be easier to beat than Bricker.

In the past, Lausche's support—or lack of it—for other Democratic candidates has been a popular point of debate among politicians.

Lausche has tended to object to doing too much advertising of other Democrats himself.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am in love with a man who claims to love me, but he doesn't want to be married and consequently withholds from me practically all affection. I suppose a psychiatrist would say I am frustrated; maybe I am.

It just so happens that I am a perfectly normal woman with high moral standards and I certainly don't want an illicit relationship or anything similar. But I do crave affection and understanding and I don't know why I can't have it when I date this one man exclusively and am true to him in every way.

Don't tell me to give him up; I can't; I've tried. Furthermore I don't think any problem ever was solved by running away from it. But this situation is really getting me down. My morale is getting lower every day, and I am developing a beautiful inferiority complex . . .

I've tried talking to Joe, but he shuns conversation of a personal nature. When he wants a confidante, he confides in a close friend not me—and here I am, simply perishing to be close to him and share his problems.

There's nothing worse than being unloved and unwanted — it's like living in the desert, looking at a mirage. Life is becoming drab and hopeless, instead of the beautiful adventure it once was. I am losing all hope of having my dreams come true, and I just can't take it. Why do some of us have to be left out?

I love him so terribly, yet I don't dare let on how I feel or he will get angry. What on earth can I do. I am strictly a one-man dog. The only solution I've been able to think of is turning on the gas; but of course I don't really want to do that at all.

DEAR E.N.: This isn't love; it is a fixated predilection for mistreatment, in your emotional experience. You are hypnotized by Joe's negativism, not by his more humane potentials (if any), as you struggle to spark a real relationship (you think).

The seeds of defeat are partially within yourself; but also they are inherent in the impossibility that you've attempted here. Namely, to evoke outgoing love-interest from a man who simply hasn't got such fellowship to give a woman; and who therefore shuns and rejects your avid desire to get close to him.

Would a psychiatrist say you are frustrated? He might; but I think he would also suggest that you are compulsively attracted to lost causes in the field of romance. And that you are much in the dark about the significance of your emotional drives.

You are probably much less loving towards life and people, and Joe, than you suppose—with much less moral passion for the real Joe than you've imagined, as you brood in your desert of loneliness (a recluse from life), haunted by hopes of happiness with a sidekick who looks like Joe.

The inside truth, I suspect, is that you want Joe, neurotically, mainly because he sidesteps you; that you wouldn't be so aggressively "mad" for him if he had the normalcy to rejoice in feminine adulation and interest, with some degree of real appreciation and warm responsiveness. Indeed if he were the trouble-sharing, or self-sharing sort, in his dates with you, you'd probably have rated him a trial and a bore from the start—and turned elsewhere in search of heartbreak material.

As of now, you're sitting outside the closed door, beeping; instead of shaking the dust of disappointment from your feet, and heading back into the quest for fulfillment.

There's more pep in the appearance if not the music of college marching bands this football season. At left is a drum major of 1957. Compare her costume with that of a 1907 major (inset, lower left). At right bandmen of Northwestern university (left) and the University of Illinois look at a jacket which was popular with collegiate marching musical organizations just a few years ago.

Football Bands Becoming More Glamorous Yearly

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

GREENVILLE, Ill.—Ever wonder where all the brilliantly colored and decorated band uniforms, to say nothing of costumes for svelte drum majorettes, come from for marching units that are part and parcel of fall gridiron pageantry during the collegiate and high school football seasons?

It is a big industry now, naturally, supplying the very latest in styles for some of the handsomest dressers in the land, but there is a strong probability that the point of origin was right here in this small southern Illinois town where 165 people work year-round dreaming up and executing by the thousands one fantastic yet pretty idea after another.

This town lives, eats and sleeps band uniforms and school commencement gowns, including the colorful hoods worn by the academic doctors with the advanced degrees, because virtually every family has one or more representatives in the organization which since the early 1890s not only has watched "the passing parade" but outfitted much of it.

In the early days it was mainly the circus; today the bands have taken over. U. S. De Moulin, with an Old World background of circus and music and $90 initial capital, established the firm here in 1890 along with brothers Ed and Erastus, because it was headquarters for the Modern Woodmen of America, who needed initiation paraphernalia.

THE RINGLING Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus in all its glory was suited-up, from its blaring bands with the trailgate trombones to the elephant blankets, by grandfathers and parents of the present tailors, and the togs of Tom Mix, colorful cowboy star of the silent screen, were their special pride.

Take it from William L. De Moulin, grandson and successor of the founders, that the circus is still here. They recently filled an order for 24 pairs of fancy pants for lyde Beatty, famous animal trainer.

However, now the bands are the thing, and since the first of this year 10,000 varicolored uniforms and 40,000 caps and gowns have gobbled up 200 miles of material flowing through one of the world's largest tailor shops.

When a "touch of autumn" creeps into the air and bands are practicing intricate formations far into the dusk while grid huskies toil on nearby practice fields, the tailors here are as busy as Santa Claus' fabulous helpers just before his Yuletide ride.

This year a special aura of secrecy as tight as that surrounding the atom shrouded new uniforms for University of Illinois and Northwestern university bandmen. When they take the field, Du Moulin people here will strain their ears to radio loudspeakers and gaze at television sets to catch the crowd's reaction—of thunderous approval, they hope—because these are among the bands that are known nationally as "style-setters."

Illinois traditionally is conservative under Mark Hindsley and Everett Kisinger, who in turn have many proteges heading other college and high school bands throughout the country, according to De Moulin, but this year they "pulled out all the stops" and let the uniform-makers go to town.

De Moulin believes that styles actually change less in band uniforms than in ordinary clothes. After all, hardly anything could be showier than P. T. Barnum's brass band, but there are style trends, all right.

Military cuts prevailed during wartime, but the current move is to brilliant outfits. Dark colors are giving way to bright shades; in the South there is a trend to Confederate styles.

RADIO HAD A simplifying influence, because announcers ran out of descriptive words, but television has brought back the "eye appeal" of the old circus "peanut gallery" which accented things that could be seen from afar.

Of all the styles, however, that of the current trim-cut drum majorettes, featuring shorts, lower boots and smaller headdress, is the farthest cry from the 1907 ankle-length flowing charmers who dared to intrude upon a field once monopolized by mere men.

Seventeen of the 33 presidents of the United States visited Newport, R. I. while holding office.

Brown Enters Dem Race in California

LOS ANGELES — Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown reports he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor next year.

This will almost certainly pit California's leading Democrat against two of its top Republicans for the state's top office, promising a slam bang political fight.

Already announced candidates for the Republican gubernatorial nomination are Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and Senate Minority Leader William Knowland.

A Knowland-Knight primary fight, some politicians believe,

Out among the Stars -- What?

Do Any of Other Planets Support Human Life Too?

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of four articles concerning man's effort to conquer the space beyond Earth's atmosphere.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter

New York (AP)—Are we the only humans living in this incomprehensibly vast universe of ours?

Or are there people like us, or even superior, on other planets near or far away?

Only by exploring space can man begin to answer this question nagging him nearly since his time began.

"We are not alone," declares Dr. Harlow Shapley, famous Harvard astronomer. He estimates there could be 100 million planets capable of supporting life as we know it.

There are billions upon billions of stars or suns in the universe. Even supposing that most have no planets at all, there still could be 100 million planets situated at the right distance from a sun, possessing oxygen and all other conditions for our kind of life, Dr. Shapley reasons.

Very likely, human astronauts will never be able to visit much more than the other planets of our Sun—Mars, Venus, Jupiter, Saturn and others.

These could be reached in days, weeks or years, depending on top speeds which space cruisers traveled. By picking up enough speed once they were in outer space, cruisers might reach any of our planets within days.

Then men could learn whether there is life, even fantastically different forms of life, on these planets—some arid, some terribly hot or cold, some bathed in poisonous fumes.

What is the meaning of Mars' "canals," of Jupiter's strange markings? Are the asteroids, the belt of flying chunks of matter between Jupiter and Mars, really the remains of an exploded planet?

But reaching even the nearest star, to see if it has planets at all seems impossible beyond man's dreams.

This star is Alpha Centauri. It is so far away that it takes four years and four months for its light to reach us, and light travels 186,000 miles per second. Physical laws say it is impossible for anything to travel faster than light—science as yet has no inkling even how to approach that fabulous speed.

Yet the chances of learning about life elsewhere are not entirely hopeless.

Men in space could build giant telescopes, far more powerful than any on earth. Our earth's air distorts starlight, makes clear seeing difficult.

Giant observatories on space platforms, or on the moon, could look clearly and accurately vast distances into space. Some astronomers believe such seeing could help learn secrets of the birth of the universe, or whether life exists on other planets.

Both American and Russian scientists are talking of putting telescopes in the sky. They could take pictures, or use TV eyes.

Space opens vast new frontiers for good or bad, depending on how nations use the new potentials and powers.

A space station hung some 23,000 miles above the earth could provide instantaneous television for half the world at a time.

It could circle at such a speed, relative to the earth's own rotation, that it would appear to stay always at the same point above the earth. TV signals could be reflected from it into homes over the same program to everyone around the world at the same moment.

Other satellites at chosen heights could survey the earth with telescopic and TV eyes, or radar, prying into any country's secrets. Military men see them also as potential bases for launching guided missiles with atomic warheads to impose the will of the sky-master nation.

Rocket and space control, though, is not likely to become one nation's monopoly, many scientists believe. Checkmating is more likely. War in space, aimed at destroying an unfriendly space station, is mentioned as a possibility.

Rock 'n' Roll Said Declining

Fitzgerald Says Kids Prefer 'Nice' Music

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Heartening news of a decline in rock 'n' roll is reported by Ella Fitzgerald, considered by many pros to be the greatest of the pop songstresses.

"I think it's losing popularity," she observed. "The kids seem to be going for a nicer kind of music. When I used to sing a ballad at a jazz concert, the audience would start getting restless, waiting for me to get going on a jump tune. But now I can sing three ballads in a row and they'll listen quietly."

"I just don't like it," she said. "Though she sings jazz, Ella likes R-N-R."

"Not for me at any rate. At first, I think, the songs were too suggestive. The kids got too wild when they heard them. It was a natural reaction—one girl starts yelling when she hears Elvis and another one thinks she should, too. Pretty soon it's a riot."

"But I think the kids are getting so they want to understand jazz. They listen now and appreciate when they hear something good."

The same is true in Europe, she said. She tours there four months a year, singing before packed audiences. They're quiet and attentive, she said, listening carefully for the nuances of jazz.

Ella is back home to do a movie, the W. C. Handy film, "The St. Louis Blues." She plays herself in this one, singing "The Beale Street Blues." A couple of years ago, she played a dramatic role for Jack Webb in "Pete Kelly's Blues."

This Gal Doesn't Kill Moths, She Raises, Coddles Them

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — While many of us are busy killing moth and carpet beetle larvae, Gerry Pickering is just as busy raising them.

Gerry doesn't like bugs any more than the next person, but her job depends on having enough of the hungry pests on hand. As technician for the National Institute of Dry Cleaners in nearby Silver Spring, Md., she uses the larvae to test mothproofing products and procedures for institute members.

Gerry says there are only two ways to determine whether a member's product or procedure really works.

"One is to apply it to the customers' garments—then wait and hope," she says. "The other is to use our test service. It's obvious which is the surer way to avoid paying expensive claims."

Because everybody is busy killing moth and carpet beetle larvae, Mrs. Pickering has had to raise her own experimental brood.

She raises them in jars filled with a mixture of brewer's yeast and dog food. Gerry says the larvae thrive on dog food. They get so healthy they almost bark!

When the larvae get fat and hungry, she puts them in glass dishes where they can gnaw on swatches of fabric treated with a mothproofing product or process.

Twenty-eight days later Gerry knows the answer.

"The proof of the mothproofing," says she, "is in the moth-eating."

The institute tests annually all the mothproofing compounds sold to dry cleaners. Those that pass the tests are listed in an annual technical bulletin.

The institute also sends its thousands of members a standard swatch, lets them mothproof it in their regular way and return it to the institute for testing. Each testing swatch plus an untreated one is put in a dish with 10 hungry larvae for the 28-day period.

The laboratory performs more than 2,000 of these tests annually.

"Sometimes we run out of larvae," says Gerry, "and have to buy them. They're tricky to raise and cost about a nickel each; that's why we try to keep an adequate supply of them on hand."

Cuyahoga Chief Faces $25,000 Damage Claim

CHARDON — A suit for $25,000 damages was filed Wednesday against Cuyahoga County Commissioner Henry W. Speeth as he was released after serving a six-day jail sentence. The complainant is Mrs. Gladys Wolken of Chardon, who claims Speeth's car hit hers, injuring her back. Speeth was arrested after the accident, and found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

180-Year Jail Term Faced by Daytonian In Drug Accusation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 31-year-old Dayton man, reportedly head of a wholesale narcotics racket here, faces a possible 180-year jail sentence for violating Ohio's narcotics law.

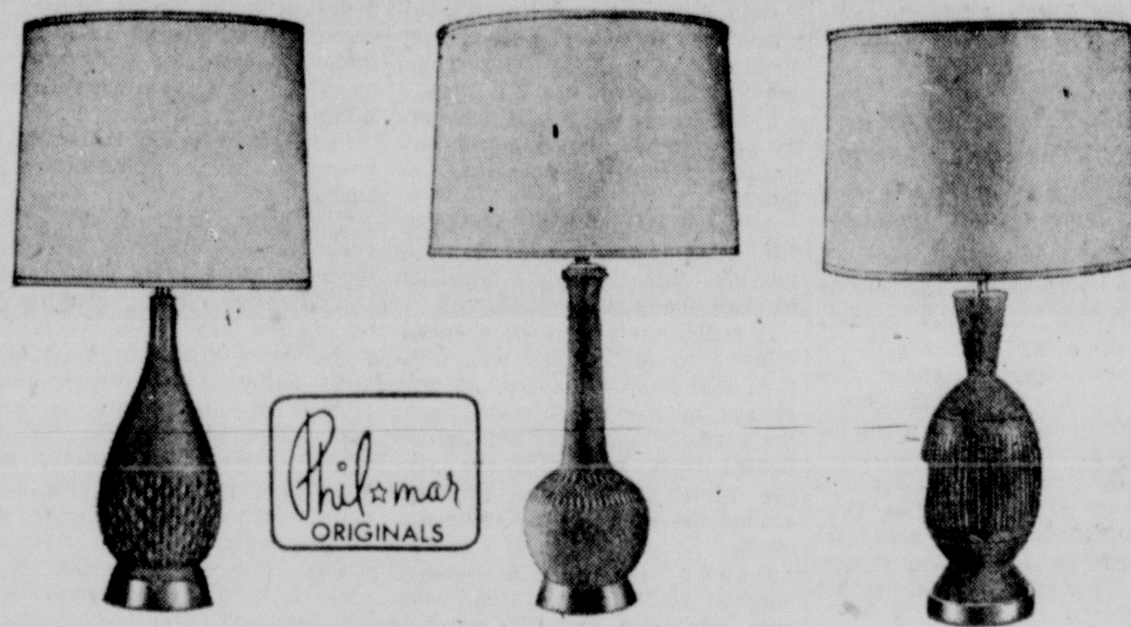

Marion L. Miller was convicted in Montgomery County Common Pleas Court here Wednesday on three charges of illegal sale of narcotics and three counts of illegal possession. Judge Charles Lee Mills deferred sentencing for three days pending an appeal by Miller's attorneys.

A federal narcotics agent arrested Miller last July after he sold the agent 30 capsules of heroin obtained in New York and Chicago. Another twelve narcotics peddlers were arrested at the same time. All have been sent to prison.

W. Somerset Maugham is 84 years old, but is still spry, grinning and working on a new novel.

OUR BEST WISHES TO THE '57 CIRCLEVILLE TIGERS AND TO COACH BENNETT AND HIS STAFF FOR A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Area Cage Squads Open Fire Tomorrow

Four Contests Launch Season

Six-Man Schools Start Practice

With basketball season rapidly moving into the foreground, four area teams are slated for cage openers Friday night.

The four-way action will see Clarksburg at Atlanta, Madison Mills at New Holland, Kingston at Salt Creek and Bainbridge at Laurelville.

Meanwhile, other teams in the county and surrounding areas have either started practice or will get underway within the next few days.

According to Ohio high school athletic regulations teams participating in six-man football are not allowed to begin practice until Friday. Teams affected here include Pickaway, Walnut, Darby, Jackson, Amanda and Stoutsville.

A QUICK pre-season look indicates that this year's county loop has all the makings of an interesting and perhaps surprising season.

All squads have several returning lettermen plus additional newcomers who undoubtedly will make every team stronger than last year.

Ashville and Scioto ended the league last year as county champions, with Ashville battling on to win the local tournament and two district trophy victories.

However, Darby and Walnut played commendable ball during the season, with Walnut emerging a darkhorse in the tournament. All these contenders are aware that they will face some stern opposition this year from Pickaway, Atlanta and the rest of the loop teams.

Haughton Seen Leading Sulky Driver Again

COLUMBUS — Billy Haughton, harness racing's perennial driving champion, has taken a commanding lead in his bid to repeat as the nation's leading money-winning driver.

The Brookville, N.Y., reinsman has earned $520,000 through Oct. 27, according to the U. S. Trotting Association, and is pulling away from his nearest rival, Johnny Simpson of Maitland, Fla. Simpson has banked $472,000.

Haughton has been the national money leader since 1952 when he dislodged Simpson from the top rung. His earnings record, and that for the sport, is the $599,445 which he banked in 1955. He has a good chance to surpass that total this year.

Haughton, 33, is currently commuting from coast to coast, racing at Roosevelt Raceway, N.Y., during the week and at Hollywood Park, Calif., on the weekends.

Simpson, 37, built up an early lead in the dollar race by winning major colt stakes fixtures such as the Hambletonian, Little Brown Jug and Cane Futurity. In recent weeks, however, Haughton has come on strong and with the colt season over, Simpson is given little chance of catching his friendly rival.

Here Are More News Briefs From Midwest Grid Camps

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest Football Briefs:

Ohio State — Three Buckeye players missed practice because of the flu but Coach Woody Hayes declined to name them. Hayes said all three would return to workouts today.

Wisconsin—The Badgers worked on defense for the Michigan State game. End Tom Peters is still a doubtful performer Saturday because of a leg injury.

Michigan — The Wolves may toss Fullback John Herrstein against the Iowa Hawkeyes. Considered a doubtful starter, Coach Bennie Oosterbaan may use him in the game.

Indiana—Following a session of blocking and tackling, the Hoosiers went through an offensive scrimmage to improve their timing. Tailback Norm Mackin continued to impress the coaching staff.

Purdue — The Boilermakers went through a hard, defensive scrimmage. The Purdue team was warned of Illinois' backfield speed and passing.

Illinois — Passing was stressed in the Illinois workout. End Rich Kreitling and tackle Bruce Dollahan skipped the workout. Also missing were center Gene Cheney because of an injured shoulder and tackle Paul Adams out with the flu.

Northwestern—Guard Al Viola is lost for the season with a pinched neck muscle. The injury has a paralyzing effect in the right arm. The loss is great to Northwestern's thin-ranked Wildcats.

Iowa — Hawkeye Coach Forest Evashevski held a secret drill for the first time this season. Iowa is expected to be in top shape for Michigan Saturday.

Michigan State — Fullback Don Arends and guard Ron Rickens suffered injuries in an unprecedented mid-week scrimmage.

Coach Duffy Daugherty said of the scrimmage: "We needed to do something to sharpen our attack against Wisconsin."

Minnesota—Star tackle Frank Youso returned to workouts to bolster Gopher hopes against Indiana. Quarterback Dick Larson is the only one who is expected to miss action Saturday.

Notre Dame—The Irish concentrated on pass defense for fear of Navy quarterback Tom Forrestal. Notre Dame also brushed up on its own passing.

Marquette—It was back to fundamentals for the Marquette team. Coach Johnny Druze put the team through an offensive scrimmage which he termed very good.

BIG WELCOME FOR DODGERS—Just one of many who turned out in Los Angeles to welcome the official Dodger family goes king-size all the way to greet President Walter O'Malley of the Bums and others. The Dodger officials plan to complete arrangements for the transfer of the Brooklyn club. (International)

Chuck Noll Heads For Reserve List

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns are expected to put Chuck Noll, veteran linebacker who broke an arm Sunday, on the injured reserve list. That means he will be out for the season.

His replacement probably will be Stan Sheriff, a 222-pounder who was released by the San Francisco 49ers after two games.

Akins Rated Second As Welter Contender

NEW YORK (AP)—Virgil Akins is now listed second among contenders for the world welterweight crown vacated by middleweight champion Carmen Basilio.

Monthly ratings by Ring Magazine placed Akins behind Isaac Logart of Cuba, who had been the No. 2 contender behind former champ Tony Demarco of Boston. Akins knocked out Demarco in the 14th round of a scheduled 15-rounder Tuesday in Boston to bring about the shuffled ratings. Demarco now is third.

A total of 1,343 thoroughbred horses competed at the Monmouth Park 1957 race meeting.

North Carolina's annual peanut crop is valued at $30,000,000.

Lane Chalks Win, New Ring Rating

CHICAGO (AP)—Southpaw Kenny Lane, after a methodical 10-round victory over Orlando Zulueta, has a new distinction today.

The Muskegon, Mich., battler was awarded the No. 1 contender's spot in the junior welterweight division by the Illinois Athletic Commission.

This 140-pound class has been dormant since 1935 but Commission Chairman Frank Gilmer says: "We've revived it with the hope of stirring up a world championship at this weight."

Lane won a unanimous decision over Zulueta in the bout at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night to register his 16th straight triumph and a total of 49 against five defeats in his career.

Lakers Still Lack Old Winning Habit

DETROIT (AP)—There are a lot of new faces in the Minneapolis Lakers dressing room these days, but the winning habit that used to go with the name hasn't shown up yet.

The Lakers, after their 115-96 loss to the Detroit Pistons Wednesday night, now hold down the National Basketball Assn.'s western division cellar with a 0-2 record. The game also marked the Pistons' first victory.

George Yardley with 28 points, Bob Houbriggs with 16 and ex-Laker Walt Dukes with 14 topped the Pistons scorers.

Army Loses Service Of Lancaster Gridder

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army has lost the service of Charles Lytle, a guard from Lancaster, Ohio, for an indefinite period as the result of an eye injury suffered in Tuesday's scrimmage.

The 6-2, 200-pounder spelled Stan Slater at right guard in the first five games.

Bond Sales Hit New High

Pickaway Total Nears $70,000

Sales of Series E and H U. S. Savings Bonds in Pickaway County during September totaled $68,689 according to a report released today by the U. S. Treasury Department.

In commenting on the sales, Judge William D. Radcliff, chairman of the county savings bond committee said:

"Continuing high sales of savings bonds in Ohio reflects not only the growing industrial might of our state but also that the people who work in factories, offices and retail concerns have accepted the automatic payroll savings plan as a sure, steady way to accumulate large savings."

September savings bonds sales in the state were the highest for any September since 1948, according to the Treasury Department.

Lebanon, Ohio, is internationally famous for the millions of poinsettias, lilies and azaleas grown and distributed from there to all parts of North America.

Horsemen Ask Jaycee Help

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce has been asked to donate approximately $1,500 toward construction of a horse barn at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The request was made by The Horsemen's Assn. at a special meeting of the Jaycees Tuesday night. The Horsemen propose to add $1,500 to the amount asked of the Jaycees for financing the barn. The Jaycees agreed to the proposal which will be presented to the Pickaway County Agricultural Society at its next meeting Monday, Nov. 11.

Much of the approximately $1,500 held by the Jaycees was raised through operation of the spring matinees and was to be used for construction of additional grandstands.

Lawyer Asks Stiff Penalty For Revealing U.S. Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lloyd Wright says Congress will give consideration early next year to a bill which would impose stiff fines and jail sentences on reporters and others who willfully disclose government secrets.

Wright, a Los Angeles attorney, headed a 12-man commission on government security which last June recommended extensive revisions in the nation's security regulations, tightening them in some instances and easing the rules in others.

Wright told the American Society for Industrial Security Wednesday he had been assured that the commission's proposed 106-section bill will be "one of the first orders of business when Congress reconvenes next January."

He also told newsmen he "regretted" a recent story in Aviation Week magazine, currently causing a furor in government circles. The magazine reported that the United States for some time has been keeping tabs on Russian missile tests with the aid of special long-range radar units based in neighboring Turkey.

"I regret that anyone would not think more clearly on the possibilities of assisting the enemy before publishing that type of thing," Wright added.

The magazine maintains no security breach was involved. It said the Russians and everyone concerned except the American people have known of the radar installations.

The commission's bill would provide for fines up to $10,000 and imprisonment up to five years for willful disclosure of "secret" and "top secret" matter.

Ashville volunteer firemen will stage a burn-down at 1:30 p. m. Sunday on Randolph St., south of the N & W depot. The public is invited to attend.
